

Instructor-PC, Notebook & Projector... ... a flexible combination

A highlight for the instructor

An additional notebook on the instructor's desk as well as a projector integrated into the videodidact[®] Select System makes the central use of both media possible.

In connection with the optional Advanced System the instructor can multiply ways of presenting his tasks with the following combinations:

Advanced System

Transmission of the notebook screen onto all participant screens while simultaneously transferring the instructor's screen onto the projector.

Transmission of the notebook screen onto the projector while simultaneously viewing a participant's screen and transmitting it to all other participants.

Transmission of the instructor's screen onto the projector while simultaneously transferring the instructor's screen onto the projector.

Transmission of the instructor's screen to all participants while simultaneously transmitting the notebook screen onto the projector.
