

AudioLine in Stereo

The Optional Function: Language Lab

The optional AudioLine turns your classroom into a multimedia language lab.

The voice transmission from or to the individual students is automatically coupled to the screen transmission. No further operation steps are necessary for the voice communication.

Support in the PC lesson due to voice communication

Ideal base for multimedia applications

Receive the tone of different source devices at every PC

Bidirectional voice communication to the participants (instructor-/participant dialog)

Switching tone from instructor to all participants (independent of video transmission)

The connection of external audio sources (sound card, DVD etc.) to the EBS audio box is provided at every workstation.

EBS offers both a high-quality microphone-headphone set (standard) as well as a more reasonably priced alternative. A connection of existing headphones or headsets is also possible.
